

The Post-Pandemic Workplace: The Supply Chain Profession's Perspective
New global survey sponsored by boom! Global Network

London, UK, 29 June 2021. A new global survey of supply chain professionals exploring current opinion around the post-pandemic workplace is now open.

By polling practitioners, consultants and vendors across the sector, the survey seeks to provide a grass roots perspective on:

- The impact of the COVID-19 pandemic on working practices, employee performance and well-being.
- Future workplace location preferences and benefits.
- The impact of remote working on career progression.

The survey is sponsored by boom!, the global network for women in supply chain. Founded in 2019, boom! is an online community that brings together aspiring female supply chain professionals who want to enhance and accelerate their careers through access to meaningful learning and development resources supported by a global community of cross-industry peers and mentors.

Open to all professionals across the supply chain sector, the survey is available now at <https://www.surveymonkey.co.uk/r/boomsurvey2021>

The results of the survey will be available in September 2021 and will be available for download at <https://boomglobalnetwork.com/research.html>
